The Southland Conference

The Southland Conference has had its share of women's basketball tradition, with Louisiana-Monroe advancing to the 1985 NCAA Women's Final Four, and Stephen F. Austin sustaining itself as one of the most successful programs in the history of the sport.

Women's basketball standouts have included Eun Jung Lee, Lisa Ingram, Portia Hill, Deneen Parker, Katrina Price and Joskeen Garner, and coaches such as Gary Blair, Sue Gunter, Linda Sharp, James Smith and Linda Harper. Blair and Gunter were both honored recently as two of the NCAA's all-time greatest coaches.

In the national polls, the league has also experienced success, as Stephen F. Austin, which joined the Southland Conference in the 1988 season, finished No. 19 in 1988, No. 11 in 1989, No. 6 in 1990, No. 14 in 1991, No. 4 in 1992, No. 12 in 1993, No. 19 in 1997 and No. 19 in 1998. In addition, former member Louisiana-Monroe finished No. 13 in 1984 and No. 2 in 1985.

In the NCAA Tournament, Louisiana-Monroe was the league's first participant in 1983, also getting the league's first win in an opening round game that same season, before the school won a first-round game the next year.

In 1985, Louisiana-Monroe showed the league's progress, as it advanced to the Final Four. In 26 NCAA Tournaments, the league has won a first or opening round game 12 times. The league has competed in the WNIT five times, as Northwestern State became the first school to compete in the event in 1993. The Demons got the league's first WNIT win that same season, before ending the tournament in the consolation game. The next season, former member Louisiana-Monroe advanced to the third round.

In the 1995 WNIT, Northwestern State advanced to the championship game, the second trip in school history, as it played in the 1986 WNIT Championship game before joining the Southland Conference in 1988.

Multiple players have continued their careers professionally. Most recently, Central Arkansas' Caronia Randle and Renita Dobbins played with the Arkansas Starz of the WBCBL, while Stephen F. Austin's Charity Egenti was invited to WNBA training camp with the Phoenix Mercury. Current Central Arkansas assistant coach Carone Harris, a two-time All-American and the NCAA career leader in steals in all divisions and named one of the NCAA's all-time finest women's basketball players, had a WNBA tryout with the Washington Mystics, before being invited to camp with the Chicago Sky. 2006 SLC Player of the Year Terra Wallace was invited to the WNBA's Pre-Draft Camp at Cleveland State University.

Other players to continue their careers professionally include UT Arlington's Rola Ogunove, who played in Europe, as did Northwestern State's La'Terrica Dobin, the 2004 SLC Player of the Year, who led the nation in assists for three-straight years in 2001-02 (8.6), 2002-03 (10.6) and 2003-04 (9.6). Stephen F. Austin's Portia Hill played professionally in France as on the 1990 U.S. National Team, while Katrina Price played professionally in the ABL in the late 1990s.

Over the years, Southland Conference schools have earned victories over Tennessee, Duke, LSU, Alabama, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas Tech, Arizona, Baylor, Florida, George Washington, Indiana, Kansas, Kansas State, Maryland, Mississippi, Mississippi State, UNLV, Texas A&M, Texas, Southern California and Missouri.
